Criminals Target the University Police are Baffled

by Tomkin Wallop

In two separate incidents yesterday, professors at Gotham University were attacked and injured. Professor Louis Maelstrom of the History Department was shot, wounded and assaulted by unknown criminals outside of the University Club at noon. Police have no leads. Maelstrom claims that his wound has driven all memory of the incident from his mind, and the attackers, although stymied by by-standers, have vanished. Some hours later, noted lecturer Dr. Hans Gruberman of the psychology department was brutally beaten and abducted from his home by masked men. Dr. Gruberman was released some hours later, also claiming no memory of the incident. Police have no leads.

Vandalism and Murder in Blanchaven Police Baffled

by Skip Haversham

The old abandoned Sail Factory in Blanchaven was the scene of wanton destruction this morning. A large number of blood stains were found all over the factory and fires and explosive remains discovered in the west receiving and west weaving rooms. Police have no leads.

Nun Rescues Little Girl

By Lester Fudge

Sister Maria Cobblepot has won the accolades of the city today. She rescued little Maisey Donahue, an orphan from Crime Alley, who had fallen into an open manhole. Sister Maria fished her out and rushed her to the hospital to be treated from multiple broken bones and lacerations. Sister Maria was unable to be reached for comment.

Protest Lodged with German Consulate

By Tomkin Wallop

At the request of Kermit Roosevelt, son of the late president, the State Department has issued a strongly worded protest with the German consulate in Philadelphia over consular officials connections with unsavory mercenary groups.

Massacre in Crime Alley Bowling Parlor Police Baffled

by Lester Fudge

The bodies of 8 men in strange robes were found in the Crime Alley Alleys bowling alley early this morning. They had been variously shot, stabbed and punched to death. The front door of bowling alley had been broken down by some sort of tractor or armored car. Police have no leads.
